

About tracking securities and security prices

The Security List contains all the securities that you track in Quicken — your holdings as well as your Watch List. The Security List and related features described in this section expand your flexibility in tracking, reporting on, and analyzing your securities. First set up your investment accounts (if you've not already done so); then add securities to your Quicken Security List.

What can I do?

- How do I manage securities?
- How do I update security prices \(get quotes\)?
- How do I download prices for market indexes?
- How do I set up or edit a Watch List?
- How do I change a security's ticker symbol?
- How do I view today's performance for market indexes and securities I'm watching?
- How do I set up and work with security types?
- How do I view a security's price history/market value graph?
- How do I correct a mistake in the security's transaction history \(Security Detail View\)?